MRS. ELLA T. BENNETT

Mrs. Ella T. Bennett, wife of George Bennett, died Monday morning at the Mitchell nursing home in South Paris where she was a patient the past 10 months.

She was born in Harrison, April 7, 1881, daughter of Arthur and Fannie Skillings Taylor. She spent the greater part of her life in Bethel.

She is survived by her husband, George; a son, Malcolm Hutchinson, California; a brother, Ben Tyler, three sisters, Mrs. Effie Whitman and Mrs. Rosa Garber, all of Bethel, and Mrs. Bertha McDowell, California; several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at the Greenleaf funeral home this Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Burial was at Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel.

G. HENRY LEARNED

G. Henry Learned, passed away at his home in Newry, early Tuesday morning after a long illness.

He was born in Andover, Maine, July 27, 1868, son of Peter Webster and Ellen Morse Learned. He has been a resident of Newry for 47 years.

As a young man he was engaged in the lumbering business, later choosing farming as an occupation. He took great pride in his gardens and even in his declining years, worked beyond his strength in the soil he loved so well.

Though of a retiring disposition, Mr. Learned was a man of high integrity and sound judgement, and gained many friends with his keen sense of humor and ever ready smile. In a true New England spirit he seemed content to "Live in his house by the side of the road, And be a friend to man".

Surviving are his widow, the former Beale Searle; a son, George, Newry, two daughters, Mrs. Marion Thurston, Rumford and Mrs. Eleanor Pugsley, South Portland; a brother, P. W. Learned, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Kimball, both of Rumford Center; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild; several nieces and nephews.

Heartfelt sympathy is extended to his beloved wife who has faithfully cared for him and bestowed outstanding devotion, and to his daughters, who contributed so much for his comfort.

Funeral services will be held at the Greenleaf funeral home, Friday, June 25, at 2 p. m. Interment will be at Powers Cemetery, Newry.

WALTER E. RICKER

Walter E. Ricker of West Paris died Saturday morning at the CMG Hospital, Lewiston. He had been a patient there one day.

He was born June 9, 1878, in West Paris, son of Albert E. and Addie Andrews Ricker. For the past four years, he had been a patient at a nursing home in East Sumner until the day before his death.

Crippled by polio in early life, he suffered much from lameness but was able to attend school and later worked in a mill and in Portland for a time. In recent years his condition became worse and he was unable to get around.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Mabel Emery, of West Paris.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the home of his sister, the Rev. Earle Dolphin officiating. Bearers were Henry Stone, Reynold Chase, William Edmunds, and Percy Mayhew. Burial was in the family lot at Wayside Cemetery.

Margaret C. Smith Swamps R. Jones --Boyker Wins State Senate Chance

While the results of the primary election Monday brought few surprises, the victory of United States Senator Margaret Chase Smith, seeking renomination, over Robert L. Jones by a 5 to 1 margin far exceeded the 3 to 1 predictions. Her vote totalled 96,245 against Jones' 19,218.

In the Congressional district Robert Hale easily secured renomination with 29,777 votes comparing with 5,723 for J. Horace McClure and 2,403 for Ray F. Stetson. Hale's Democratic opponent in September will be James C. Oliver, former Republican representative to Congress, who polled 2941 votes against 2839 for Eli A. Gaudet of Rumford.

In Oxford County voters the nomination of Henry W. Boyker of Bethel as a candidate for State Senator upset the forecasts of many. Previously serving a Senate term, two years ago, he campaigned as an independent candidate for governor. His local opponent, John H. Carter, has made little effort for renomination. A Democratic opponent of Boyker will be Addison C. Saunders of Bethel, who was unopposed in the primary.

Lists of party candidates and statistics of contests are printed elsewhere in this issue.

With a generally excellent slate in county and state for the fall election the Democratic party is justified in expecting a much better showing than has been customary. It is predicted that more than the usual number of "split" ballots will be cast by Republicans in September.

The Week in Oxford County

Miss Julia Lowe of Buckfield will represent Oxford County at the New England Junior 4-H Club Leaders Conference at the University of New Hampshire.

Mexico High School's class of 1953, held their first reunion since graduation at Luther's Camp, Roxbury Pond, Saturday. They enjoyed a chicken pie supper.

Mrs. Emma Ford of Waterford won the Republican primary nomination for the State Legislature in Monday's vote. She was a "write-in" candidate, replacing her husband, Clyde J. Ford, whose death occurred a few days ago. Mrs.

Ford's competitor was Fred W. Bartlett, Norway. The vote was 456 to 347.

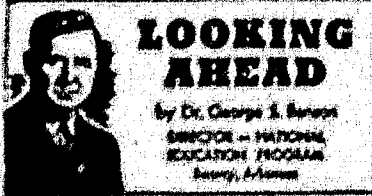

229 Maine high school juniors are attending Girls State at the Colby College campus, Waterville. The following are from Oxford County: Joyce Bartlett, Norway; Marilyn Bonney, Buckfield; Beverly Corbett and Martha Aldrich, South Paris; Drusilla Defoe, Dixfield; Lura Farrington, Bryant Pond; Shirley Flanders, Norway; Olive Hall, Oxford; Barbara Holbert, Jane Smith, Bethel; Joyce Klein, Norway; Helen Lang, Andover; Anne Martin, Rumford Point; Gail Hushon, Mexico, and Fay White, Dixfield.

Is Your Pulse Sensitive?

Thomas Jefferson, while commenting on heavy taxes, said: "The pulse of the people is the real seat of sensibility. Let it be drawn upon largely, and they will listen to truths which could excite them through any other organ." Well, everybody's pulse today is being "drawn upon largely." But are enough of us aware of just how heavily we are being taxed to bring about action toward reducing the heavy drain on our pocketbooks and on the very vitality of our productive economic system?

Taxes levied against each of us by local, state, and national governments are so scattered in their method of "take" that a great many people do not realize how "tightly" their pulse is being hit. In other words, the whole truth about taxes can be collected. Taken altogether, these facts are enough to make even complacent taxpayers demand that the size and cost of government be drastically whittled down, and that the whittling begin at once.

Record Spending

Expenditures of the national government in the current fiscal year will total approximately $100 billion. This is the highest level of spending ever reached by the U. S. government except for the three World War II years and the Korean crisis years, 1942-1945. It is more than twice as high as the $50 billion spent in 1948 and almost eight times the $12 billion spent in 1949.

The cost of government has for centuries been the bane of the citizen. In 1923, federal, state, and local taxes took 11.9 per cent of the net national product (the value of all the goods and services produced), and in 1953 these taxes took 23.8 per cent. At the same time, the national debt rose from $16 billion to $275 billion—and this we must never forget, is a debt upon the taxpayers of America and on one else.

More Than Paid

It is now estimated that the average family pays more in taxes than it spends on food for its family. When we average up all the families regardless of size, income brackets, etc., we find that the average family pays more in direct and indirect taxes and in state and local taxes (the total) was $1,097 or $14.40 monthly. This is 31.5 per cent of income.

The family head who made $10,000 in the same year paid $1,148 in federal taxes, and $148 in state and local taxes for a total of $1,296, or 12.96 per cent. The family with a $5,000 income for 1953 paid $750 in taxes, or 15 per cent of income. The family with a $2,500 income paid $375 in taxes, or 15 per cent of income.

Business corporations paid taxes on the average amounting to 13.5 per cent of gross sales receipts. The same were more than three times larger than the dividends paid by the companies from which the average figure was computed, and more than four times larger than their retained earnings or net profits.

Old System Halted

Admittedly we live today in an atmosphere of international tension. We need to spend adequately for national defense that who can say with conviction that $1 billion couldn't be cut from the proposed $175 billion Department of Defense appropriation and at least one billion cut from the $13 billion for "military and program"? And who can prove to the hard hat taxpayers that to these critical times when the economic health of our nation is so vitally important a substantial savings couldn't be made in the proposed $10 billion for "other expenditures"?

The health of our private enterprise system is at stake. No longer can businessmen be satisfied about a proposed picture of action. "It is necessary," they must ask, "What is the effect on our tax positions?" Congress is now asking to lift after taxes to one who enough new jobs for the youth.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

MRS. RUTH STRANDINE, 6331 N. Minnehaha Avenue, Chicago, Illinois, faced six years ago the greatest feeling of worry and anxiety she had ever known. She received word that her father was seriously ill and could not possibly live long. She was to come home and visit him at once.

She had never known a father who had not always been radiant, alive and healthy. So she worried just how she would face him in this hour of crisis.

She arrived during a snow storm. The city was in a complete black-out which didn't help matters one bit.

Her mother met her at the door. The sadness in her eyes reflected something Ruth Strandine had never seen in them before. But she managed a smile and a warm welcome home.

Entering her father's room, she found it aglow with light. Candles had been placed here and there and her father registered joy, deep understanding and peace of mind. What an example in spite of his suffering, he had not lost his good disposition, his sense of humor, his faith in his family or his faith in God.

He had taught his daughter many lessons in life, but she learned there the greatest one at his bedside. When her fears beset her, he conquered his, when she wept, he smiled; when she doubted, he trusted; and he taught her that even death is an experience of life that all must face. Her fears completely vanished when she saw how courageously he faced his death.

CARNEGIE

CONGRESSIONAL

Q—Is wire-tapping a federal crime?

A—Under a 1934 federal law, and subsequent court interpretation, wire tapping is illegal only if the information obtained is divulged without prior authorization of the sender. No one has ever been convicted of wire tapping under this law, although wire-tapping is practiced by such agencies as the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Many federal convictions based on wire-tapped evidence have been reversed. Despite numerous court rulings, the wire-tapping issue has not been resolved.

Q—How can the Administration predict both a $2.0 billion budget deficit for fiscal 1955, and a $100 million "cash" surplus?

A—Part of the federal government's income and outgo passes through trust funds—such as the Social Security retirement " kitty." Trust funds dollars are segregated from the conventional budget books, but are counted in the cash budget because they reflect actual money transfers between the government and the public. The trust funds so far take in more than they pay out.

Q—The Constitution provides that one-third of the Senate's seats—32—will be filled by election every two years. How much above this quota have we gone in recent years, because of deaths and resignations?

A—Thirty-five Senators were elected in 1952, 34 in 1950. In 1954, 35 seats will be at stake—more if additional vacancies occur before then.

Q—How long has Washington, D. C., been the Capital of the U. S.?

A—Since 1800. The first Congress met in New York, and from 1791 to 1793, Congress met in Philadelphia. The second session of the Sixth Congress and all succeeding met in Washington. From time to time, there have been proposals to move the Capital to cities further West, such as Denver, but no concentrated effort to do this has materialized.

Q—What are foreign tax credits?

A—to avoid double taxation, federal law permits U. S. corporations operating overseas to subtract certain business taxes paid to foreign governments from their American corporate-income tax bills. The effect usually is to limit the total tax—foreign plus domestic—to the sum which would be paid if the overseas firm were operating at home. As the foreign tax rises, the U. S. tax declines. Other tax concessions also benefit overseas investments, and President Eisenhower Jan. 21 proposed that Congress liberalize the laws further.

Q—Does recommitment kill a bill?

A—Recommitment—a floor vote to send a bill back to committee—is a device for killing a bill's chances for passage, except when the committee is instructed specifically to report it back to the floor after example, with changes approved in debate. The bill remains alive in a technical sense in the absence of such instructions, but in practice it usually is then dead.

SCANNING THE NEWS

WILL THE Supreme Court decision ruling out segregation in public schools have election repercussions? Definitely so, say the political observers, with full impact when the 1956 ballot boxes are counted.

Despite the fact that the decision was rendered by a Supreme Court made up of seven Democrats and two Republicans, it occurred during a Republican Administration and is therefore expected to make the President, and perhaps his party, more acceptable to Negro voters in the Northern and border states—voters who have been predominantly Democratic since 1914. Obviously enough, it is not expected to bring any appreciable change in the Negro vote in the South.

The decision may cause some Southern white voters to turn away from moderates on the race issue in favor of candidates who openly approve the Supreme Court ruling. Just how important is the Negro vote? There are now an estimated 16 million Negroes and about three million of them are registered voters, with more than a million of these in the South. Negroes in the South voted Republican from the Civil War until 1940, have since voted Democratic. In the 1952 Presidential election, the Negro vote was 73 per cent Democratic and 27 per cent Republican in Negro wards and precincts of 47 cities according to a survey conducted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The survey disclosed a more than 50 per cent Negro Democratic vote in Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City, Mo., Washington, D. C., and New York.

These are true facts. They don't immediately, drastic cuts in the size of all citizens to demand an end of government.

MY PET PEEVE

by Mike Bennett

A LONG study of the situation has convinced me that the business world is inhabited by a class of gentle, prudent, prevaricators. Only the undertaker will tell you just how terrible business really is, and he has to be honest, since the whole town knows it each time he gets a customer.

A businessman, like a general in the field, doesn't care to have the competition aware of the fact when things are in a bad way. It's a matter of morale.

It doesn't bother me too much, this business of a merchant telling me that everybody else is spending money, or buying a particular product. I never spend money unless I have it, and have never purchased a single item merely because the Joneses next door came in with it in their shopping bag. I can forgive this minor prevarication. When a guy says business is good, maybe he means it's better than it was. I can't argue with that.

The fellows that really get my goat, and they are the most prolific prevaricators, are fishing camp operators. In all my years of indulgence in the piscatorial pastime, I never yet rented a boat from an operator who didn't say that fishing was wonderful the day before and everyone on the lake brought in the limit. A variation of this pitch is that some guy just left the boat dock before you arrived with the record catch for the season.

This is mighty bad, hearing that you are just an hour or so late. Yet you fish in the hot sun all day without a nibble, go home and and disgusted, and then out of pure stubbornness, come back two days later to try it again.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLDTIMERS

From M. D. Merry, Hudson, Wisconsin: It was my fortune while living in Montana to meet an aged miner, who told me many stories of his mining life. He had gone to California at the time of the gold rush in 1849.

Being disappointed, he and a party of twenty trekked overland to Southwestern Montana, where it was reported that gold could be picked up on the hills.

They made their camp at what later became Hannack. Results were satisfactory, except for large brown rats, fearless things, which scampered across tables at mealtime and crawled into beds at night.

They decided the only remedy was cats, so two men took the wagon they had bought in California and started for the settlement in Idaho. They had no trouble upsetting the cats, but their wagon upset on the way back and they lost half of their load.

On arriving in Hannack, they were hailed with delight. An auction was held and the cats were sold for in gold dust, bringing a nice profit to the promoters.

From Mrs. George W. Burden, Baginaw, Michigan: I remember as a young girl during the depression, I hated milk. My two nephews and I would secretly make coffee and drink it with milk so we would not have to lie when asked if we were drinking our milk. Grown folks didn't think so, but we children knew how hard it was for mother to keep our tummies filled during depression.

From Jennie E. Legge, Lewisburg, West Virginia: I remember when the crushing sound of the coffee mill would wake me long before daylight. Dad always arose at four the year round, helped to get and eat breakfast, then sit around for hours waiting for daylight. The coffee we used was bought green and roasted at home in the oven. It was cheaper (a pound) than already roasted coffee. Dad said, anyway, "they roasted the life out of it." Mom always put an egg shell each morning in the coffee "to settle the ground."

Everyone had a cane patch and made their own sorghum molasses. It was used for more things than bread-sopping, too. A gallon or two was put in a kettle of apple butter, helping to sweeten the butter, giving it better flavor, and a richer, redder color.

All our sugar, coffee, salt and soda, which was about all we bought from the store, was paid for in eggs, but at Easter we were allowed all the ten cent a dozen eggs we could eat. One Easter I ate thirteen, fried, boiled and deviled.

People never went anywhere much. Traveling was so bad they were themselves out going and couldn't enjoy themselves after they got there.

No woman today will be caught with a dirty apron on. Once, they wore them to church, along with the "pinks bonnet," which projected so far the woman's face could hardly be seen. These were the good old days—or were they?

For in thee, O Lord, do I hope:

(Psalm 124, 125)

All of our worldly hopes—for we have faith that He hears our

The 1954 Laboratory's 135 delegates come from twenty-eight states; from Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Hawaii; and from the following foreign countries: Austria, Canada, England, India, Israel, Sweden, and The Netherlands.

This year, for the first time, a special program designed to train human relations trainers has been developed. It will be under the co-leadership of Leland P. Bradford, the Laboratory's director, and Jacob S. Kounin. For the first year's experimental program twelve people have been accepted. These twelve include former delegates from the United States and The Netherlands, and specially recruited delegates from Austria, England, and Israel. Members of this group will participate in most of the Laboratory activities as delegates. In addition, certain special seminar meetings will be held to enable them to analyze their delegate experiences from a training viewpoint. It is hoped that this program will lead to an expanded trainers' program in future years.

As in former years, the Laboratory's evening sessions are open to the public, and the total Laboratory community wishes to extend a warm invitation to all the residents of Bethel and its environs to participate with them in these sessions. The schedule is as follows:

Session No. 1—Tuesday, June 22: "The Why and How of Large Meetings."

Session No. 2—Thursday, June 24: "Narrowing Hints between Decision and Action."

Session No. 3—Monday, June 28: "Finding Common Ground in Value Conflict Effecting Action."

Sessions No. 4 and No. 5—Wednesday, June 30, and Thursday, July 1: "Assessing Social Structure in Aiding or Hindering Induction to Change" (Parts I and II).

Session No. 6: Monday, July 5: "Social Science and the Practitioner."

Session No. 7: Wednesday, July 7: "The Individual and Social Change."

CATCHING

by
*Ray Schalk

From the book "How to Play"

published by The Sporting News

DIFFICULT PLAYS

Chapter 11

When a hunt is in order, the catcher must be especially alert. By retreating the front man on the base and making a force play on a hunt, a catcher can reverse the result of an inning and oftentimes of a game. Therefore, it is vital for a catcher to know the mechanics of a hunt, and make himself a fifth infielder when catching the pitcher.

In the situation, the catcher is the one player who has the best chance to win or lose, and therefore, in fielding a hunt, he is able to see where the ball is going to play and can make the necessary play.

You cannot waste the fraction of a second in making up your mind to which base you are going to throw.

With the bases empty, the catcher should have over to back up first base the instant a ball is hit to an infielder, in order to prevent an advance should the throw to first be wild or escape the first baseman.

The most difficult play for a catcher to make is on a double steal, especially with smart runners or first and third. I usually deal with the double steal by glancing at the runner on third, perhaps looking my arm as if to throw, thus causing him to stay at the bag, frequently snatching back into the station and thus not being in position to come in from third if something should go wrong, and then throwing to the second baseman or shortstop, returning the runner trying to advance from first or doubling him back to the initial tag.

While I have pointed out the value of teaching home plate and stepping into the field in some situations, a catcher should never make this move unless it can be done safely. With men on the bases, NEVER leave your position unguarded. The catcher should remember that home plate is his station and there are no players behind him. Just into a play with the idea of chasing runners back to their bases. The thought for the catcher is to keep runners on the bases away from home plate.

This is the clearest in a series of articles to help you proper instruction to help in how to play baseball. Future columns will include fielding, outfielding and base running.

Chapters prior to this are available from this newspaper, or you can order "HOW TO PLAY" consisting of 111 pages, from The Sporting News, 300 Washington Ave., St. Louis 2, Mo., for $1.00.
